

This spring will be filled with colours

It has become a trend to decorate your home, shop or restaurant in ways that are both beautiful and personal. Renewals must be made, and trends should be followed – although, warmth is important as well, and this makes colours an interesting factor. You don't have to throw colours into your space with an explosive force. Actually, you can choose a neutral base and combine it with several colourful objects.

Colours in general are making their way into our rooms. Not just the living room. The kitchen has lately become an arena for a lively palette of exciting colours. You might shy away from choosing garish solutions like a red kitchen design or purple cabinets, but colours are definitely making their entry into our kitchens. They do so in the shape of lamps, plants, chairs and other types of smaller interiors that complement and bring life to a white or subtle kitchen design.

How does EBB & FLOW use colours in their designs?

“Colours present a way of expression and a way to show one's personality as well as creating evocative environments. My designs are a mixture of a simple Nordic design tradition and a colourful and opulent British style. In the shape of lamps in mouthblown glass in many transparent colours as well as lively fabric shades. These are meant to give our customers the opportunity to set their style apart from others while keeping a clean and exclusive design in their living room, kitchen, office or restaurant” says EBB & FLOW designer Susanne Nielsen. Spring 2019 will be a season where this colourful trend will become more apparent especially in home decoration. EBB & FLOW offers a wide range of both colourful lamp shades and glass pendants.
